Prayer: Lift up your hearts

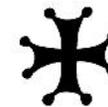

Why do we pray?

How is prayer in Church different from personal prayer?

How should we pray?

Summer Conference: 13-15 July 2018

The Hayes Conference Centre
 Swanwick, DE55 1AU

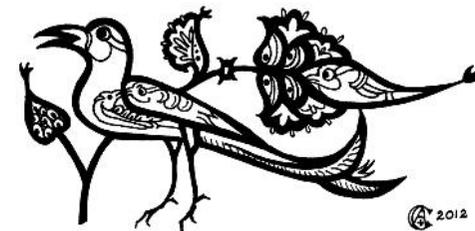

Speakers:

Father John Hookway

Nun Seraphima

Metropolitan Kallistos of Diokleia

St Basil the Great, Letter to a Widow

Be mindful therefore of God. Keep the fear of Him in your heart, and enlist all men to join with you in your prayers, for great is the aid of them that are able to move God by their importunity. Never cease to do this. Even while we are living this life in the flesh, prayer will be a mighty helper to us, and when we are departing hence it will be a sufficient provision for us on the journey to the world to come. Anxiety is a good thing; but, on the other hand, despondency, dejection, and despair of our salvation, are injurious to the soul. Trust therefore in the goodness of God, and look for His succour, knowing that if we turn to Him rightly and sincerely, not only will He not cast us off forever, but will say to us, even while we are in the act of uttering the words of our prayer, "Lo! I am with you."

About the Conference

Why and how do we pray as Orthodox Christians? This has been answered in a number of different ways over the centuries. From structured services to personal prayer and the prayer of the heart, the life of the Church and the person form the backbone of our faith. Our speakers will consider different aspects of prayer and prayer life. We will also pray together during the services and the chapel will be available for prayer at other times. There will also be time for fellowship and social activities.

Speakers

Metropolitan Kallistos of Diokleia of Thyateira is a titular metropolitan in the Ecumenical Patriarchate in Great Britain. From 1966-2001, he was Spalding Lecturer of Eastern Orthodox Studies at the University of Oxford. He has written many books and articles about the Orthodox Christian faith.

Father John Hookway is Priest at the Parish of St Demetrios in Edmonton.

Nun Seraphima (Konstantinovsky) works in Oxford as an academic and is a nun of the Monastery of St John the Baptist in Tolleshunt Knights, Essex.

The Conference Centre

The Hayes Conference Centre is set in parkland with facilities for both our content and our shared prayer life during the conference. The local train station is Alfreton (between Chesterfield and Nottingham). More information is available at www.cct.org.uk.
